Genitourinary Pathology: Practical Diagnostic Approach

Trapani, October 12-13, 2026

Museo d'arte contemporanea San Rocco
Sala Conferenze, 2nd floor
Via Nunzio Nasi

The course will be delivered in two complementary educational formats designed to combine structured teaching with practical diagnostic experience.

LECTURE PRESENTATIONS

Interactive, case-based sessions offering participants the opportunity to engage directly with high-quality digital slides.

All materials will be hosted on PathPresenter, with personalized login credentials (ID and password) provided to ensure seamless and unrestricted access.

Participants will be able to explore the complete slide sets one month prior to the course and continue their learning experience for up to 15 days after the event.

During the conference, selected cases will also be showcased and discussed in plenary sessions.

During the conference, slides will also be projected on site using the same platform, allowing pathologists to directly navigate and discuss the cases in real time.

This format has worked very well in prior educational programs and promotes active participation and practical diagnostic discussions.
