Rational Congress

The high incidence, the cronicity and the high percentage of recurrence of stone disease are strongly involving urological daily activity in the management of clinical lithiasis, requiring the evident needing of meetings where share and validate current clinical pratictice standards and discuss new strategies in our rapidly evolving field.

The Mediterranean Masterclass on stone disease brings together International and Italian faculties from leading urological centers to debate current and future approaches to urinary stone management. The program includes six scientific sessions, with an update on stone prevention, new technologies and in-depth discussion of complex clinical cases, in a specific videl-lecture session. Emphasis will be placed on technical surgical details and on emerging and latest technological innovations in endourology.
